

Love has no reason

I have a thing
with these words
they stumble on the way from my heart

I have a thing
with your eyes
they bend on me as fuscous skies

I share their hopes

I wish I'd be
by the side
of my hearts
horseback rides

It's so hard to get to know
when soul bridges
a tremble grows

Love has no reason why
it stretches out
behind your eyes

You've come to shade
an unseen way
to unfold your light
on each day

As autumn leaves and comes the rain blazes
open wide I would sense the world through you
be woven into your side
